Costume Ball Opens Weekend February 10

by Doris Rosenberg

THE 1956 WINTER WEEK-END, February 10 and 11, will get off to a roaring start Friday night with a gala Mardi Gras Ball at Georgetown Hospitality Hall.

Music for the ball, scheduled to last from 9 to 1, will be provided by the Melodians. Intermission will feature the crowning of a King and Queen of the Mardi Gras. The title and the cup of King will go to the most elaborately attired male at the dance and his date will reign as queen of the ball.

All students are urged to come in costume.

Saturday afternoon's highlight will be the long-awaited jazz contest between Chick Wayne and Wild Bill Whelan. Whelan and his Dixieland Five will offer their rendition of Dixieland jazz against the modern jazz of Chick Wayne and his quintet. The concert will take place in Lisner Auditorium from 2 to 5 p.m.

Basketball

Saturday evening the Colonials will take on Maryland University's basketball team at Fort Myer. The game has been set to begin at 8:30, but students are reminded that only 375 seats have been obtained for the game. All fraternities will hold open house, in compliance with IFC rules, after the game.

Sororities and fraternities will also get a chance to take part in a House Decorations contest Friday and Saturday. Two cups will be awarded, one to the sorority with the best outdoor decorations, and the other to the fraternity with the best indoor decorations. Sororities will build their decorations around the Maryland-Colonial basketball game, while the theme for the fraternities' decorations will be scenes from New Orleans. Sororities and fraternities participating in the contest will receive booster points.

Price

The price for the entire weekend of festivities is $1.50 per person; combo holders are entitled to one free ticket. Students planning to attend the ball only may buy tickets for the dance at $1.00 each. The jazz contest alone will cost $.50 per person. Tickets are now on sale in the Student Union lobby.

Como Selects Ann Williams Annual Queen

by Charlene McDonald

ANN WILLIAMS was crowned Cherry Tree Queen last Thursday at the National Theater by Norman Cohen, business manager of the 1956 Cherry Tree.

The backstage crowning took place when Miss Williams arrived in Washington, where the run of "Damn Yankees" will soon begin at the National. She joined the road company of the show early in January, and left school to travel with the troupe.

The Cherry Tree princesses, Ruth Reagan and Pat Burke, accompanied Peggy Nichols, Charlene McDonald, Tom Beale and Mr. Cohen, all members of the Cherry Tree staff, to the Theater for the coronation. Reporters from the Washington Post were on hand to cover the story for the downtown papers. The event was featured in the Sunday editions of the city's newspapers.

The Queen and princesses were chosen on the basis of beauty, as shown in one formal and one candid photograph, by television and recording star Perry Como. Mr. Como received pictures of candidates proposed by all campus sororities and Strong Hall. Miss Williams was sponsored by Strong Hall, Miss Reagan by Zeta Tau Alpha and Miss Burke by Alpha Delta Pi.

Miss Williams will appear on Mark Evans' television show tomorrow morning at 9 a.m. While she was a student at the University, she took part in many drama productions and was a member of the Dance Production Groups, the Traveling Troubadours, Tassels, Pi Beta Phi sorority and the Glee Club. She was given a part in the chorus line of "Damn Yankees" during try-outs for the musical in New York, and she recently received a speaking part in the show.

Qualifications for specific scholarships are listed in the current issue of the University catalogue.

day, February 6. Candidates must be unmarried junior or senior women.

The judging will take place at a tea Thursday February 9, in Room C of Woodhull House, and will last from 2:30 to 5:30. ## Band Joins Singers In Program in Lisner

• THE UNITED STATES Air Force Band joined the Air Force Singing Sergeants in the fifth program of the Student Council-sponsored Colonial Series in Lisner Auditorium January 18.

The program varied in content and style from Giuseppe Verdi's overture to "The Forces of Destiny" to "The Gremlin's Ball," which closed the evening with a blare of brasses and left the audience clapping in time to the syncopated jazz beat.

The Singing Sergeants, under the direction of Capt. Robert L. Landers, sang "Oklahoma," "The Twelve Robbers," the "Volga Boat Song" and a medley of American cowboy tunes.

Featured band numbers were the "Colonel George S. Howard March," honoring the conductor, Col. Howard, and "Latin Lament," written by W/O. Fred Keppner, the band's arranger.

Emcee was S/Sgt. Howard Ruff, familiar to University audiences as bass soloist in the December 12 presentation of Handel's "Messiah." S/Sgt. Ruff sang the prologue to "Pagliacci" by Leoncavallo, and, as an encore, "The Song of the Open Road." S/Sgt. Joseph Soprani, a past national accordion champion, played "Carnival in Venice" and "Lover."

The program was open to the public as well as to University students. Attendance was estimated at 750.

Director Tests Voices Today

• THE UNIVERSITY GLEE Club will hold a "reorganization meeting" at 7:30 tonight in the Dimmock Room of Lisner Auditorium.

All students interested in singing are invited to attend. Doctor Robert H. Harmon, chorus director, will test new voices and choose members for a Men's Glee Club. Doctor Harmon hopes to organize an all-male chorus of 50 or 60 voices. He directed such a group in 1930 and won honors in Intercollegiate Chorus Competition. "The size and caliber of this Men's Glee Club depends entirely on the response I get," Dr. Harmon said.

Dr. Harmon plans to test women's voices also. Those singers selected will perform in the April Cherry Blossom Festival accompanied by the Air Force Singing Sergeants.

Hillel Members Hear Discussion on Faiths

• RABBI AARON SEIDMAN and four members of Hillel met last week with actor-lecturer Lew Ayres in a discussion on religion.

Mr. Ayres, known for his performances in "All Quiet on the Western Front" and the "Dr. Kildare" series was in Washington to present his motion picture, "Altars of the East" at Lisner Auditorium.

The series of films he recorded portray the doctrines and basic beliefs of three-quarters of the world's population. It is a cross-section which Mr. Ayres gathered in a year of travel flying over 40,000 miles in the Far East. He visited Formosa, the Hong Kong territories, for Confucianism, Taoism and Chinese polytheistic (worship of many gods) practices. He also visited Siam and Burma for Buddhist practices and the Hinayana sect. His other stops for religious knowledge also included Japan and India.

"I made this film because I hoped it would add a grain, a little contribution, to our understanding of our Asiatic neighbors, and that is so important now," he explained.

Ayres filmed "authentic music and religious chants." He appears in the three movies when he interviews religious leaders.

School Gives New Courses

• THE UNIVERSITY ANNOUNCES a series of four new courses in the School of Engineering to be taught during the spring semester.

These courses have been added to the curriculum for a master's degree in engineering administration.

Of special interest to government engineers will be a course entitled Budget Preparation and Control. The course is designed to help workers in government and industry. It is a study of the principles of budget preparation and control.

The course, entitled Managerial Statistics, Quality Control and Standardization, is being initiated for the purpose of helping management personnel make decisions in controlling quality and standardization.

Contract Administration places special emphasis upon handling contracts between government and private industry. This course is designed to "improve the engineer's ability to administer such contracts, their award and execution, and to negotiate satisfactory clauses and conditions."

What's doing at Pratt & Whitney Aircraft

Jet Engines Tested in World's Most Complete Privately Owned Turbine Laboratory

Located on the bank of the Connecticut River at East Hartford is a singular development facility—the Andrew Willgoos Turbine Laboratory. Here, behind windowless, thick concrete walls, many types of engines find a never-ending challenge in the development and testing of advanced aircraft engines.

Test methods used by Pratt & Whitney Aircraft in their unique laboratory are highly complex. Tests are conducted on full-scale experimental engines at simulated altitudes up to 76,000 feet. Extremely high speed airflow, with pressure and temperature accurately controlled, duplicates speeds as high as Mach 2.75. To reproduce such prodigious flight conditions, extraordinary equipment had to be devised. For example, a 21,500-hp driving dynamometer supplies the enormous power needed to test jet engine compressors over a range of speeds from 800 rpm to 16,000 rpm.

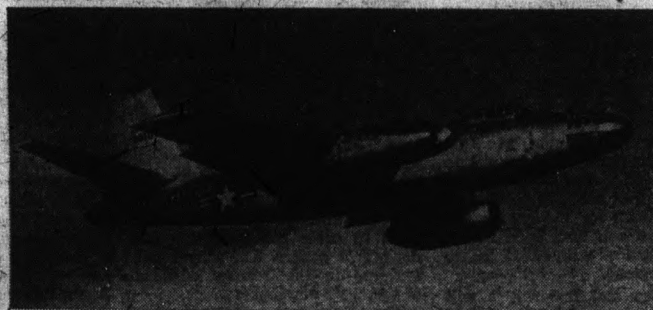

The time lapse between development and production of new engines is reduced considerably by the advanced facilities of the Willgoos Laboratory. An outstanding example of results achieved through concentrated engineering effort and complete research support is the Pratt & Whitney Aircraft J-57 turbojet. Today the unchallenged leader in its field, the J-57 is merely the forerunner of greater aircraft engines that will power the preeminent military and commercial aircraft of the future.

Engineers in control room of one of eleven test cells at Willgoos Laboratory record important characteristics of gas turbine engines in operation.

Andrew Willgoos Turbine Laboratory where jet engines and their components are explored. Cooling water from the Connecticut River can be pumped through a maze of conduits at the rate of 160,000 gallons per minute — 3½ times the consumption of a city of half a million people.

B-45 flying test-bed is shown here with an experimental jet engine suspended directly beneath the bomb bay. Its regular engines are idled while in-flight performance of the turbojet is observed and recorded. The perfect complement to the complex ground-testing facilities of the Willgoos Laboratory, the flying test-bed is another vital factor in reducing engine development time.

Annual Starts Selling Drive

• THE 1955-56 EDITION of the Cherry Tree will be on sale in the Student Union through Feb. 24. This year's single sales campaign will replace the usual two subscription drives held in the past.

"The theme of the Cherry Tree is one of design," says editor Peggy Nichols. It is organized to give a complete picture of life at the University, and will include a fourteen-page "preview of contents" in place of a simple table of contents.

Another innovation in the '55-56 Cherry Tree will be the combination of the beauty queen and feature photographs into one section. Color will be added to make the annual brighter.

The price of the Cherry Tree is $6.00. It is free to holders of the Campus Combo.

Drama Casts Play Today, Tomorrow

• TRYOUTS FOR THE Drama Production "All My Sons" began yesterday and will continue tonight and tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. in Lisner Auditorium.

Parts for six men and four women are being cast, plus other jobs necessary for staging the play. It will be given March 9 and 10. Students interested should attend the two remaining tryouts or contact the producer, Ed Ferrero, in Lisner Auditorium. "The play will be under the direction of Julian Barry, recently connected with Orson Welles' 'King Lear,'" said Mr. Ferrero.

"All My Sons," the 1947 New York Circles' Award winner, is a problem drama, revolving about the conflicts between a man's family loyalty and his responsibilities to society.

fered to help alleviate the marked need in governmental departments and private concerns for competent technical assistants," said Prof. George M. Koehl, Dean of the Junior College.

The new two-year curricula of the Junior College of the University will give the student a broad, but not superficial background in one of the three fields. All courses involved in these programs are regular University courses carrying full academic credit.

The Pre-Medical Technology curriculum has been set up to prepare the student to meet the Registry requirements of the University Hospital for training in the Medical Technology profession.

The newly developed Home Economics curriculum has several options available dependent upon the goal of each student. A basic program of 30 semester hours includes English, Home Economics, Physical Education, Psychology and Secretarial Studies. The remaining 30 semester hours are taken in the area in which the student has indicated a preference.

The Science curriculum was first used at the Naval Experimental Station at Annapolis through the University's College of General Studies. Its popularity and need led to offering the degree on campus.

Neophytes All . . .

• TO ALL WHO enter these halls of learning for the first time this issue is dedicated.

A world awaits at your fingertips.

But fun's to be had amid all the din.

A challenge to meet, a race to be won.

May you emerge unscathed from the four-year run.

May you catch living sparks from the torch of knowledge.

May you be as happy as we have been.

—The Editors.

A Masking

• BREAK OUT THE masks, boys, and we'll whirl to the strains of "Die Fledermaus."

No, the Editors haven't gone crazy, we're just looking forward to what promises to be the most madly hectic bit of entertainment to hit the campus in all our years of service.

"What is it?" you all ask. Well, we'll just up and tell you. It's the 1956 Winter Weekend which will begin Friday night with a Mardi Gras at Georgetown Hospitality Hall. From all reports it will be a gay fun evening of dancing and cavorting.

For all of you who remember last year's Colonial Cruise on it's maiden voyage, you'll know you shouldn't miss this new addition to campus life. The Cruise was one of the most successful all-school ventures ever planned and the Winter Weekend promises to just about tie the score.

Not only will the Mardi Gras be featured, but also a jazz concert and a basketball game on Saturday night.

We hope everyone, professors as well as students, will turn out to make this the greatest weekend ever. In a school as large as this it's one of the few times the whole student body can get together and really have a ball.

Let other groups have their Spring Germans and Winter Holidays. Old G.W.U. will come crashing through with a carnival to wake up sleepy old Georgetown.

And let's all go costumed. At least wear a mask. To make this Mardi Gras really succeed will take more than just people. It will take people who've really entered into the spirit.

See you all Friday as we bow before the King.

Letter To The Editors

To the Editors of the HATCHET:

• THE UNITED STATES Air Force Band-Orchestra, together with the Singing Sergeants, under the direction of Colonel George S. Howard and Lieutenant Moiser, presented last Wednesday, January 18, probably the most diversified and withal most entertaining concert I have ever heard. This concert was given in Lisner Auditorium and my chief regret was that it came at a time when ture, ranging from the "Forces of Destiny Overture" by Verdi to a group of cowboy songs presented by the Singing Sergeants accompanied by a most remarkable harmonica player, S/Sgt. Tommy Morgan, and a bull fiddle. The soloists, S/Sgt. Howard Ruff, S/Sgt. Joseph (an outstanding accordion soloist) and T/Sgt. William DuPre, did an excellent job.

There was not a weak spot in the program, and regardless of whether you liked the highly classical or jazz, singing or instrumental solo, it was all there for your choosing.

A profound bow of thanks to Colonel Howard and his staff of directors and to this magnificent musical ensemble for this presentation in our own auditorium. It is with great pleasure and pride that we welcome these accomplished musicians and the opportunity which has been ours of working with them through the years. The concert was closed with a great rendition of Sousa's "Stars and Stripes Forever."

IFC Strives To Promote Greek Spirit

by Doris Rosenberg

• ALTHOUGH GREEK Week comes but once a year and is more than two months away at present, the spirit that it symbolizes should be with us the whole year round.

Promoting that spirit is the primary purpose of the Interfraternity Council, according to IFC prexy Jack Crehore. What he is looking for in IFC is "to have Greek Week—or the spirit that pervades during Greek Week—52 weeks a year." For part of the year, however, this is not the case, he says. We are too far from it at times, Jack admits, but sometimes the "real interfraternity spirit" shines through, making it all worthwhile.

The purpose of the IFC, according to its President, is to unite the Greeks so that they can talk out problems that arise during the year, especially at rush time. The manner in which rush is conducted at the University is responsible for many of the problems that do come up during rush, Jack says.

Fraternities Concentrate

In most universities the men chase the fraternities; here "the fraternities concentrate on the men," according to Jack.

IFC was originally set up for the purpose of governing, regulating, coordinating and supervising the relations between member fraternities. In order to accomplish these ends and to promote a stronger interfraternity feeling, the IFC has initiated a heavy schedule of functions and activities.

The highlight of IFC's social calendar is Greek Week, which will be held April 9-14 this year. The popular IFC Prom features at intermission the semi-annual tapping of Gate and Key, an honorary for outstanding fraternity men, and the tapping of Omicron Delta Kappa, men's leadership honorary. Another well-known affair during Greek Week is the IFC Sing which will be presented this year on April 13. The Prom will be held the following night.

Scholarship and Workshop

IFC also maintains a scholarship committee, and, in addition to supervising and controlling fraternity rushing, runs an interfraternity workshop for discussion and cooperation.

Each of the fifteen fraternities is represented by its president and one other elected delegate. Meetings are held once a week.

Panhel Aids Y-Teens With Help, Guidance

by Doris Rosenberg

• THE PANHELLINIC Council has a new pet, announced President Eleanor Ready, with a twinkle in her eye. Ellie's "pet" is Panhel's new project for 1956, a community project involving work with the YMCA, advising and helping area Y-Teen Clubs.

The Y-Teen project, which was started only a few weeks ago, is coming along fine, Ellie said enthusiastically. Volunteers from Panhel have been working with the many high school Y-Teens in this area, helping them plan their affairs and projects and accompanying them to various places. The Y-Teen members are enjoying their new Panhel advisors almost as much as the Panhel girls are enjoying them, Ellie added. The volunteers are old enough to be able to guide and help the Y-Teens, and at the same time they are young enough to be "one of the gang."

"We're really happy about this project," Ellie said, smiling. It's giving the sororities an extra chance to do something constructive, and is also good public relations for the University, Panhel, and sorority girls in general, she added.

In addition to its big project, Panhel carries on numerous other activities. The Panhel Prom, Panhel Sing, scholarship awards and various workshops are only a part of its long list of activities.

Like IFC, Panhel is the governing organization for all social sororities at the University, and aims at binding them closer together. However, there is not much trouble on this point, Ellie says. "There's not much strife and stress among sororities here, and lots of cooperation among sorority members."

Ellie concluded by saying how happy everyone is that the Panhellinic Council at the University can be of use to the community as well as the University.

• WILLIAM P. SMITH, JR., new University personnel officer, will assume direction of the counseling center, student placement service, employment service and training service for the University Hospital this semester.

Mr. Smith, a graduate of the University, received his A.B. in 1952. While a student, he served as vice-president of the Student Council, and received the Omicron Delta Kappa award as outstanding senior man in recognition of his work in revising student government organization and in supervising the first Career Conference. He was recently appointed to the post of advisor to the annual Conference.

Mr. Smith returned to the University last June to do graduate work. In December he was appointed assistant personnel officer.

In his new position he will head the University personnel department which directs the University counseling service, offering vocational and educational testing to students, graduates and members of the community.

The employment service recruits employees for the University Hospital and Cancer Clinic, and non-academic employees for other departments. The training service develops and presents programs to increase job proficiency of Hospital employees.

Cohen Believes In Activities; Makes Trips To College Park

by Elva Schroebl

• "SCHOOL, FOR ME, is a two-fold preparation. You get the theory in classes that you put into practice in extracurricular activities," says Norm Cohen, who does just that himself.

A business major, Norm is getting some of his experience working as business manager of the CHERRY TREE, a job which makes him responsible for all the advertising contracts and sale receipts. Regardless of all the responsibility he likes the job. "It's been my most satisfying position at G.W. It's given me a chance to match up faces with names," he says. His work on the CHERRY TREE has been recognized by membership in Pi Delta Epsilon, journalism honorary.

One of Norm's biggest jobs this year is the vice-presidency of the Student Council, whereby he is a member ex-officio of all Council Committees. This year, he was chairman of the Community Chest Drive on campus. Always dependable, Norm boasts a perfect attendance at Council meetings, except for just one time. He was busy that night looking at engagement rings.

Norm has served his fraternity, Alpha Epsilon Pi, as house manager, treasurer and last year as president. He was named "Outstanding Brother" last year.

He has also found time to work on the Inter-Fraternity Council and he received a key as one of the six outstanding IFC delegates. For all his fraternity work, Norm was tapped for Gate and Key, honorary for deserving fraternity men. Serving now as Gate and Key treasurer, Norm recalls his initiation fondly.

Norm was also one of the students elected this year to "Who's Who" for leadership in college.

Contrary to what you might think when you see a Coolidge High School ring on his finger ("that's my fiancée's"), Norm came here from Norfolk. He calls that decision "one of the wisest" and has gone wild over Washington. "Norfolk has lost one citizen," he says. Norm feels that the best thing he's done here was a trip out to Maryland University for an AEPi Open House. That was where he met his fiancée.

After June graduation, Norm's plans are indefinite. "I think I might go into the army," he says. "I don't think my uncle really needs me, but he may want me."

Hatchet

• THERE ARE A few positions open on the HATCHET staff in feature, sports and news assignments.

Students with or without experience who are interested should attend either the HATCHET meeting tonight or next Tuesday, at 7:30 p.m., in the Conference Room, 2nd floor, in the Student Union Annex.

Changed Union Has Student Typewriters

• STUDENTS IN THE Union for the first time this semester will discover that the study room has been moved from the third to the fourth floor, and that the second floor lounge chairs are now on the third floor.

The second floor is now equipped with tables and chairs to relieve the first floor noontime rush. The television set and the piano, formerly on the fourth floor, have been moved to the third floor, and typewriters will be installed in the soundproof rooms on the fourth floor. Students will be able to use these typewriters for ten cents a half hour.

Students who believe that a soundproof room will be necessary for the piano on the third floor should write to Earl Smith, Student Union Board Chairman, or any member of the Student Union board. Mr. Smith would like to hear the reactions of students to the changes and other recommendations for future changes in the Union.

OH, FOR THE LIFE OF A NEWSPAPERMAN!

Look at the campus newspaper you are now holding. An ordinary object, you think? An everyday convenience? Something to be taken for granted?

Faugh, sirs and madams! Faugh, I say! Don't you know what prodigies of skill and labor and organization and art and science go into the making of your campus newspaper?

Come, I'll show you. I'll take you to a typical office of a typical newspaper on a typical campus.

The editor—let's call him D. Fermin Bohorquez, a typical enough name—calls his staff together first thing in the morning. "All right, you guys," he says, lighting a Philip Morris, which, naturally, is the favorite cigarette of newspapermen, and of anybody else who knows a hawk from a handsaw. "All right, you guys," says D. Fermin, "this here ain't no ladies whist society, this here is a newspaper. So get out there and get the news. Get it first, get it quick, get it right! Ed, you cover the ag campus. Phil, you cover the school of mines. Wally, you cover home ec. Sam, you cover buildings and grounds. Ethel, you cover the men's gym. . . . All right, get going!"

... Ethel, you cover the men's gym.

With many a laugh and cheer, the reporters light up Philip Morris, favorite cigarette of the young and agile, and dash away on their assignments.

D. Fermin retires to his office to smoke a Philip Morris and write a fearless editorial scolding the university for not buying patches for the worn-out elbows of the chess team.

On the rim of the copy desk three rewrite men—Tensing, Hillary, and Laverne—sit poised and expectant, waiting for the reporters to phone in their stories. They smoke Philip Morris, favorite cigarette of the poised and expectant. Tensing's phone rings first; it is Ed calling from the ag campus.

"Stop the presses!" cries Ed. "Got a scoop! Hunrath T. Sigafos, professor of curds and whey, has just sold his article The Romance of Butterfat to the Drovers and Poultryers Monthly."

On another phone Sam is calling from buildings and grounds. "Tear out the front page!" he cries. "Got an exclusive! Harold 'Pop' Wishnograd, superintendent of buildings and grounds, today announced the purchase of a new doormat for the vestibule of Burton Hall. The last doormat, it will be recalled, was eaten by a pledge named Norman Harringay for his Chi Psi initiation."

Meanwhile, elsewhere in the city room, Garglia Questover, vivacious and ubiquitous gossip columnist, sits smoking a Philip Morris, favorite cigarette of the vivacious and ubiquitous, and typing out her chatty, informative tidbits: "Maureen Valgerholtz, popular Theta, announced her engagement last night to Webster Scuff, Oliver Jenkins, Cosmo Erskine, and Walter Penn Dowdy. Wedding dates have been set for June 9, June 24, July 5, and July 18 respectively. Good luck, Maureen! . . . Irving 'Behemoth' Anselm, popular fullback, blew out 120 feet of esophagus yesterday while inflating a football. Good luck, Irving 'Behemoth'! . . . Robin Krovney, popular Deke last year, this year popular pfc. in the U. S. Army, writes friends that he has been convicted of deserting his post and will be executed on April 28. Good luck, Robin!"

And now, friends, we take our reluctant leave of the drama, the action, the tension, the glamor, the churning, the seething, the rolling, the sturm und drang of the wonderful world of journalism: Aloha, journalism, aloha!

Although acclaimed everywhere as the world's most versatile aircraft, helicopters have had only a few short years to prove it. A product of your generation, they are . . . in fact . . . younger than you are.

Like you, they face a future—that is at once challenging and promising, but the exciting details of that future remain to be discovered and worked out.

If you expect to be a graduate engineer shortly, all this can be most important to you. Sikorsky Aircraft, the company that pioneered helicopters, is moving into high gear . . . going all out to keep pace with ever-increasing military and commercial requirements. Quite naturally, the world looks to Sikorsky to design and build the helicopters of tomorrow. And for the creative engineering, for the imagination, for the technical abilities that the future will demand . . . Sikorsky Aircraft looks to you.

We would welcome the opportunity to give you a more complete picture of our company . . . and to see if there is a place in that picture for you. The next step is yours. Take that step and write to Mr. Richard Auten, Personnel Department.

Gridders Play Eight Games

• IF YOU WERE lucky enough to glance at the local sport pages during the final exams, you found the 1956 Colonial football schedule.

The Colonials will meet eight opponents, while Mr. Faris hopes to obtain another game. The Colonials will play four games at home and four away. The season, as it stands now, will start with a Southern Conference tilt at Furman University.

Furman is one of the four new opponents that the Colonials will play. The other three are Hardin-Simmons, coached by the great Washington Redskin quarterback, Sammy Baugh; Boston University, and The Citadel, another Conference game.

The Colonials dropped five teams from last year's schedule. Two regular opponents of GW, Maryland and Virginia, will be missing due to a new Atlantic Conference ruling that requires them to play at least six Conference games in order to qualify for the championship. Florida was booked for only a one-game affair and the Colonials finished their contract with the University of Pennsylvania as the Quakers will play Ivy League teams only in the future. Virginia Tech, an on-and-off affair, is the other missing team.

All four home football games will be played Friday evenings at Griffith Stadium, giving the students much more of a chance to see the Colonials play than they did this past season with only one home game at the Stadium and with one "home" game at Maryland.

Two of the four home games will be teams that the Colonials defeated this past season, Virginia Military Institute and William & Mary.

The 1956 football schedule:

Sept. 22: Open date at present

29: Furman, Away

Oct. 5: Hardin-Simmons, Home

12: Boston Univ., Away

19: VMI, Home

26: Wm. & Mary, Home

Nov. 3: West Virginia, Away

9: Richmond, Home

17: The Citadel, Away

On The Level

by Dick Sincoff

• THERE ARE at least a half a dozen guys where I work who are Pennsylvanians and avid Colonial Basketball fans. One of the fellows comes from the town right across the tracks from Joe Holup's Swoyersville, and asks for an analysis after each game. Lately, it's been tough to give.

They are pretty sympathetic, though; they didn't ride me too heavily about that ugly month of January. In fact, they were quite reassuring and were genuinely interested in the Colonial's progress, or lack of it. After slamming through December with nine wins and the one off-beat loss up in New York, the Colonials went two for five in January before exams and evened up the month at three wins and the same number of losses with last Monday's win over Virginia Tech.

A 12-4 record is certainly not to be condemned, but G. W. has built a big reputation in basketball in this area, and in the two years previous had not lost four games at this stage of the season. The question at work has been, "What's Wrong?" I could say Holup lost his left arm or Joe Petcovich went blind or Bill Telasky broke his hip. None of these happened. So, I tell 'em we were in a slump, which is exactly right. We were in two kinds of a slump—or two kinds of slumps. One was mental, a lack of alertness, a definite source of sloppiness and boners. The other was physical. How else do you explain a team of such potential that has too many off-nights?

We were a little tired, a little unsure, a bit less cohesive. Now, after two weeks of rest from the schedule, the Colonials appear to be back in the groove. They seem to have recovered the combo, are relaxed physically, and look like they'll silence a few of the disloyal fans who began shouting for scalps.

Coach Bill Reinhart's ensemble went south to meet Furman's Purple Palladins and Mr. D. Floyd last night. By the time this edition of the HATCHET comes out, I pick the Buff to have won a fairly close one in spite of the high-scoring Floyd, and I don't foresee a really tough match until we hit Duke on the 25th of this month. I have a strong confidence in the Colonials. We have too many experienced, capable players this year to have a poor season. A slump is unfortunate for any athletic team, but I think G. W. has seen the last of it and will step lively through the rest of the season.

Meeting This Week Will Plan Program

• A VERY IMPORTANT meeting will be held this Thursday in Mr. DeAngelis' office at 12:30 p.m. It is urged strongly that every organization send a representative as the second half of the intramural program will be planned.

The immediate sports will be wrestling, table tennis, boxing, along with the runoff of the basketball program. At the beginning of April, badminton, volleyball, track, tennis, golf and softball will be planned to complete another full year of intramural sports.

With about a third of the program completed, perennial champion Phi Alpha is in first place with 435 points. Phi Alpha won the Touch Football title and also the Bowling. Delta Tau Delta, runner-up in football, is in second place with 390 points and Sigma Nu, Swimming champion, is clinging on to third place by a mere one point over Sigma Alpha Epsilon, 302 to 301. Pi Kappa Alpha, Foul Shooting winner, is in fifth with 290.

Basketball games will resume again this Saturday and Sunday. At present, there are nine teams out of the total of 33 that are still undefeated. ROTC and the Pirates lead League A with a perfect slate of three wins and no defeats. Welling Hall is all alone in League B with a similar record. Phi Alpha, last year's champion, is on top of League C, but PiKA is right behind them with two wins in as many tries. The Jerrians and Sigma Nu have a strong grip on League D, while Sigma Chi and the Colonials have similar 3 and 0 records in League E.

Colonials and J. Holup Face Important Games This Week

by Paul Welch

• THIS WEEK WILL be a very important one in deciding the future of the Colonial basketball team. The team meets Richmond Thursday and then is host to Maryland Saturday. Last night the Reinhart men traveled to Furman to meet the Purple Palladins and the country's leading scorer, Donald Floyd.

The Colonials will be eager to meet Richmond and Maryland as the team will have another chance to even matters with both clubs. Richmond and Maryland both defeated the Colonial five in their first meetings, accounting for two of the four losses this year. A week ago Monday the Colonials evened matters with VPI at Washington-Lee, defeating the Tech-men, 92 to 70.

This week will also have another phase in deciding the team's captain Joe Holup and his chance

Holup's Scoring

• HERE IS THE record of Joe Holup's scoring achievements during his collegiate career.

1952-53	427	19.4 per game
1953-54	547	21.0 per game
1954-55	601	24.0 per game
1955-56	891	24.4 per game

play its best against a team such as this. Therefore, Joe stands an excellent chance of getting those 34 and breaking the 2000 mark. January was a poor month for Joe, as in one game he was held to one point. However, he erased all doubt in the VPI game.

In the VPI game, the Colonials showed much of their early season form with three players hitting double figures. The Tech-men started off the game using the same defense that had stopped Holup and crew once before. However, this time it was to no avail as when they effectively bottled up Holup, Jack Jolly or Joe Petcavich would take over. With Holup and Jolly taking charge, the Colonials forged ahead early in the game and were never headed, leading at half by a 51-to-34 score.

Holup was high man again, dropping in 10 out of 23 tries from the floor and 12 of 15 from the foul line for a total of 32 points. Jack Jolly, using his spinning shot and tap-ins effectively, scored 22, and Joe Petcavich, regaining some of last year's scoring form, scored 18.

If Holup fails to get 34 points in the Furman game, it is a good bet that he will get it early in the Richmond game Thursday. Game time is 8:30 p.m. and will be at the Washington-Lee High School gym.

Tournament Tickets

• TICKETS FOR the Southern Conference Basketball Tournament to be held in Richmond on March 1, 2, 3, are on sale at Lisner until February 13. Tickets are $9.00 each and are good for the four sessions.

Buff Riflemen Open Season With Hoyas

• THE GEORGE WASHINGTON Rifle Team opened its schedule with a match last Saturday at Georgetown at the Georgetown range.

The sharpshooters, under the direction of Sgt. Gerald Purcell of the Air Force ROTC program, will meet five other teams before competing in the Southern Conference meet at The Citadel, Charleston, South Carolina, on March 9 and 10.

February 11, the rifle team will travel to Washington & Lee for a match and will meet the same team here on the 17th. Georgetown will supply the opposition on the Colonials' range on February 18 and the final two matches will be against Catholic University, playing at Catholic University on February 25 and then shooting them here on March 25.

There will be a team of seven persons that will go over to Georgetown and the five highest scores will be used for the team's total score.

Sgt. Purcell emphasized the fact that you do not have to be an experienced shooter in order to come out for the team. Students interested should contact him in either Chapin Hall or at the range in the basement of Corcoran Hall when the team is practicing. Practice is held every Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings.

Basketball Contest

• THE HATCHET and the PHILIP MORRIS representative-on-campus are sponsoring the following basketball contest. Any student of the University may submit as many entries as he wishes. All entries must be submitted on the HATCHET blank and placed in the contest box in the Student Union Lobby by THURSDAY 5 p.m.

Each entrant should pick the scores in the appropriate blanks and should show the total points that Captain Holup will score in both games. The winner will be judged on the closeness of the point spread, and the closeness to Holup's actual score.

The first prize winner will consist of two cartons of either Philip Morris or Marlboro cigarettes, and the second place prize will be one carton of either cigarette.
